

News

Contact: Liane Louie-Badua
liane@cacampuscompact.org
(650) 388-5335

For Immediate Release
<http://www.cacampuscompact.org>

Page 1 of 2

California Campus Compact welcomed at California State University, East Bay

California State University, East Bay and President Leroy Morishita host California Campus Compact, a statewide coalition of leading colleges and universities.

January 29, 2014

Hayward, CA – California Campus Compact (CACC), a national leader in civic engagement and service learning is moving to California State University, East Bay. This move builds on CACC’s rich 25-year history of leadership in supporting state, regional, and national civic engagement in higher education.

California Campus Compact (CACC) builds the collective commitment and capacity of colleges, universities and communities to advance civic and community engagement for a healthy, just and democratic society. CACC builds strategic partnerships with education, non-profit, legislative, corporate, and foundation representatives to advance civic engagement in California. CACC is affiliated with Campus Compact, a national organization with more than 1200 colleges and universities.

“As we celebrate our 25th anniversary, this move to California State University, East Bay offers us the opportunity to further the vision and goals of our organization in partnership with an outstanding higher education institution,” said Elaine Ikeda, Ph.D., Executive Director of California Campus Compact. “CSU East Bay has a long and rich history of engagement with the community and we look forward to working together to promote community service, civic engagement, and service learning for students, faculty, and the community.”

“This is a very exciting time for CACC and we are proud to host this nationally respected organization on our campus” said President Leroy Morishita, who currently serves on the CACC Executive Board. Mary D’Alleva, Director of the CSU East Bay Center for Community Engagement stated, “Hosting CACC at CSU East Bay will add breadth and depth to our community engagement work.”

California Campus Compact (CACC) has distributed more than $5.5 million dollars in grants to support civic engagement and service learning throughout the state of California. CACC was previously hosted by the University of California, Los Angeles, San Francisco State University, and Sofia University.

CACC was originally founded in 1988 by the presidents of Stanford University and the University of California, Los Angeles.

CACC's New Address: California Campus Compact, California State University, East Bay, 25800 Carlos Bee Blvd, ST170, Hayward, CA 94542

About California Campus Compact

California Campus Compact is a coalition of leading colleges and universities that works to build the collective commitment and capacity of colleges, universities and communities throughout California to advance civic and community engagement for a healthy, just and democratic society. Through innovative programs and initiatives, grant funding, training and technical assistance, professional development and powerful research studies and publications, California Campus Compact each year invests in and champions more than 500,000 students, faculty members, administrators and community members involved in diverse and ground-breaking activities that support and expand civic and community engagement throughout California. For more information, please visit www.cacampuscompact.org.

#####